Dear Dr Rohmah:

Your manuscript entitled "Relationship between Family Support, Personal Communication, Shared Decision Making and Breastfeeding in Low Birth Weight Babies" which you submitted to Health Care for Women International, has been reviewed. The reviewer comments are included at the bottom of this letter, along with those of the editor who coordinated the review of your paper. We apologize for the delay in getting results to you. COVID has impacted all aspects of life for many.

You may also find the following Taylor & Francis websites to be helpful:

Instructions for Authors: <http://www.tandf.co.uk/journals/authors/uhcwauth.html>Tips for Publishing Success: <http://www.tandf.co.uk/journals/authors/uhcwtips.pdf>

The reviewer(s) would like to see some revisions made to your manuscript before the work is again reviewed. You may write an argument for why you did not do what reviewers suggest, but you may not ignore the recommendations. Authors must create a table listing all of the review comments and in which they note either how they have addressed them or why they have chosen not to do so. Therefore, I invite you to respond to the reviewer(s)' comments and revise your manuscript.

When you revise your manuscript please highlight the changes you make in the manuscript by using bold or colored text. We ask that you not use Microsoft Word's "track changes" feature.

To submit the revision, log into <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/uhcw> and enter your Author Center, where you will find your manuscript title listed under "Manuscripts with Decisions." Under "Actions," click on "Create a Revision." Your manuscript number has been appended to denote a revision. Please enter your responses to the comments made by the reviewer(s) in the space provided. You can use this space to document any changes you made to the original manuscript. Please be as specific as possible in your response to the reviewer(s).

Alternatively, once you have revised your paper, it can be resubmitted to Health Care for Women International by way of the following link:

 PLEASE NOTE: This is a two-step process. After clicking on the link, you will be directed to a webpage to confirm. ***

https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/uhcw?URL_MASK=729af4a93b994dc8ab87500f9951415e

IMPORTANT: Your original files are available to you when you upload your revised manuscript. Please delete any redundant files before completing the submission.

Because we are trying to facilitate timely publication of manuscripts submitted to Health Care for Women International, your revised manuscript should be uploaded as soon as possible. If you choose not to revise and resubmit please notify my office. If your work is inactive (no correspondence, no resubmission, etc.) for one year we will assume that you wish to withdraw your work.

Once again, thank you for submitting your manuscript to Health Care for Women International and I look forward to receiving your revision.

Sincerely,

Dr Covan

Editor in Chief, Health Care for Women International

Reviewer(s)' Comments to Author:

Editing needed re format, especially to remove anthropomorphism. So instead of writing, "This study aimed to analyze the relationship between family support, personal communication, shared decision making, and breastfeeding in low birth weight babies write instead "Researchers aimed to analyze the relationship between family support, personal communication, shared decision making, and breastfeeding in low birth weight babies". The manuscript also needs some editing to correct a few grammatical errors.

Methods: "The rule of the thumb " for sample size is unlikely to be understood by all readers. Just explain the formula for how you computed the sample size you would need. Do not refer to your participants as "subjects" anywhere in the manuscript. Researchers, not studies collect data about variables of interest to them.

Results: Authors should have written "Participant Characteristics," not "Participans Characteristics."

Discussion: Authors mainly note which findings support other finding already in the literature without adding succinctly to that literature. They need a tighter more theoretical discussion in order to make a contribution to the global literature on the importance of family support. They need to also state their intent to do so in their introductory paragraph coming back to this aim in their discussion section. They did this well in their conclusion, but the discussion is less coherent.

Dear Dr Nikmatur Rohmah:

Ref: Relationship between Family Support, Personal Communication, Shared Decision Making and Breastfeeding in Low Birth Weight Babies

Our referees have now considered your paper and have recommended publication in Health Care for Women International. We are pleased to accept your paper in its current form which will now be forwarded to the publisher for copy editing and typesetting.

Once your work is assigned to an issue for publication, you will receive proofs for checking, and instructions for transfer of copyright directly from the publisher. The publisher then requests that proofs are checked and returned within 48 hours of receipt.

HCWI follows an iFirst, or rapid publication model, that allows articles to be published online as "Latest articles" as soon as they have been copyedited, typeset, and proofed. This counts as formal publication. They are identical to the print edition in every way except that they lack page spans. This allows the articles to be formally cited using their DOI and year of publication before they appear in print. These "Latest articles" are later assigned to a particular print issue of the journal, and given page numbers.

Thank you for your contribution to Health Care for Women International and we look forward to receiving further submissions from you.

Sincerely,
Dr Covan
